TRADING-STAMP DISCUSSION. When the bill to prohibit the use of trading stamps, which has attracted so much interest, came up with the recom-mendation of the committee, "that it do not pass," Mr. Jennings, of Washington, moved to dismiss the measure. Mr. Mur-phy, the patron of the bill, took the floor and asked that the body refuse to take such action. Nearly all of the busiamend and re-enact section 1 of an act approved February 20, 1896, entitled an act to provide for making and defining the boundaries of certain roads in Fairfax ing the passage of the bill.

Mr. Jennings, in this connection, stated that the committee had first reported the bill favorably, upon Mr. Murphy's as-sertion that there was no opposition to the measure. Considerable opposition was manifested, however, and the bill was recommitted.

Mr. Murphy denied making the statement credited to him. Some few words passed between the two gentlemen at this point relative to this questi Chair had to call attention to the fact that the proceedings of the committee ould not be divulged before the House. It was then stated by Mr. Willard that pter 15, entitled an act to incorporate there was a substitute to the bill, the town of Basic City, approved Deformer having been prepared by the committee, and he asked that the two measures be considered together. Mr. Jennings, therefore, withdrew his motion to ismiss the Murphy bill, and the substitute, which has been published in the Dispatch, was read. Mr. Murphy immediately declared that it was unconstitutional. "Whoever heard," he said, "of a person being compelled by law to sell is goods to everybody." Mr. Jennings, of Lynchburg, asked the patron of the original bill if the latter measure was not unconstitutional. The reply was that it was not. Wheelmen Hold a Meeting.

The Board of Governors of the Richmond League of Wheelmen held a called meeting in the office of J. L. Anderson, Goddin Hall, yesterday evening; J. L. Anderson, president, in the chair, and R. R. Florance, secretary. Messrs. T. M. Tignor, E. C. Mayo, Harrison Blair, Richmond Lewis, E. W. Cooper, Thomas Christian, and others were present.

Amportant business was tranacted by them, and, in addition, a committee was appointed to look into the appropriations made by the City Council and endeavor to have the interests of the wheelmen considered in the appropriations made for street and other improvements for the year 1838. Mr. Mann, of Nottoway, asked if it was desired to enact a law to prevent them from doing that which he (Murphy) admitted was already illegal. For a few minutes Mr. Murphy was plied with quesions along this line from several quar-

After some discusson trading stamps. After some discus-sion in opposition to the trading-stamp system, Mr. Anderson moved that both the original bill and substitute be referred to the Committee on Courts of Justice, with instructions that the latter prepare a bill to effectually break up the trading-stamp business. Mr. Mann, of Nottoway, asked if it was desired to instruct the committee to draft such a bill whether the body was in favor of breaking up the enterprise or not. Mr. Anderson replied that he did, and that the House could decide what action to take upon the measure when it came before them.

Mr. Minter, of the committee from which the bill and substitute were re-

It stimulated trade and increased competition, which was most desirable. In Alexandria the opponents of the trading-stamp people had only gotten about forty signatures, when there were 400 merchants in that town. This bill was advocated by a class of merchants who didn't want to give the public the benefit of any discount, but wished to hold the prices up and form a monopoly. If they wanted to meet the competition, why didn't they make a reduction of 5 per cent in their prices, he asked. Then they would be on the same footing with those who used trading stamps. who used trading stamps.

"Three years ago," writes Mrs. J. N. Messler, of 1794 Vaunderbilt Avenue, New York, N. Y., "I was given up by some of the best physicians in this city. They said there was no cure for menuless I would go to a hospital and have an operation performed. I could not walk across the room for the pain in my side. I thought I would die. I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Frescription and after I had taken three bottles I could work, walk, and ride. I could write a year and not praise your medicine enough." it was stated that the Supreme Court of California had decided in favor of the trading stamp companies, holding that to prohibit their business was restricting personal liberties. He also read from a decision of the State Court of Appeals. Dr. Pierce's book, "The Common Sense Medical Adviser" is a treasure in any family. It contains 1008 pages and 300 illustrations. The speaker asked Mr. Folkes if th Laber Union of Richmond did not hay a trading-stamp system of their own The Delegate from Richmond replied tha they did have one which gave 3 per cent, but the trading-stamp people had broken it up. Colonel Barley replied that it was very well that they did, for it then benefited only one class, and now the good results were distributed among all.

The pending question was called by Dr. Winston, which was, upon Mr. Anderson's motion to refer the bill and substitute to the Committee on Courts of Justice, with instruction that they report a bill to prohibit the use of trading stamps.
